

Welcome to the Fifth Gate of Bar-Messimah™

The graduation ceremony and a big party

Finally we have reached the last gate of the Bar Messimah™ project. There is a lot of fun in this gate, and a lot of hard work, too. It is about the graduation ceremony; the final stages of becoming Bar-Messimah™. This is it: the fun and satisfaction of conclusion, rapping-up.

As one may have noticed during this trip so far, getting the job done well is very important. However it is also important to present the achievements, and to do it properly. While working on reporting to the tasks, making efforts to improve habits and actions, doing research and digging for roots, many answers and reports accumulated. These could be in the form of certificates, and awards, pictures or digital files. These are the materials to use when trying to show what achievements were made.

During this journey one has obviously spent time with family, friends, relatives, teachers and counselors, which in different forms have all contributed to the achievements made. Each has made his individual contribution but few have had the chance to understand the full scope of the project. They all “deserve” a warm ‘thank you’ but also a broad overview of the accomplishments. It is they who also will eventually realize that the “child” who started the project some time ago, is now a more mature young adult, who can show, demonstrate that he deserves the title: Bar-Messimah™. It is they who also will respect you and rely on you as a mature person now, to handle tasks which require more responsibility. You may be allowed to join activities in which kids were not allowed before.

As it seems, it may be crucial to make sure that all those people around you will know now how you have changed, matured and became a “young adult”. It is so important that they get a good idea of the accomplishments and achievements you have gained through this journey.

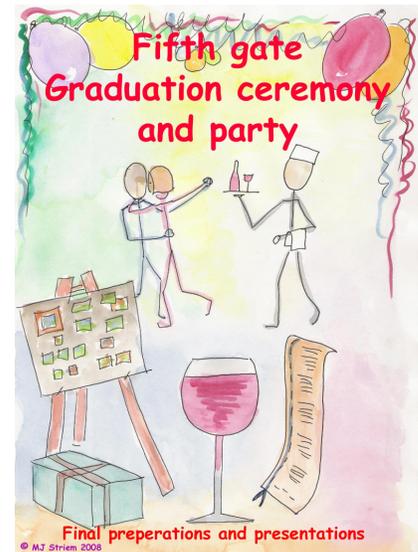

Take the time to go through each gate and each task and make sure you have all (or at least some) answers, collected all documents, notes and records of the achievements made throughout the entire project.

It will also take some planning to figure out all the details of the graduation ceremony. Prepare a presentation for the ceremony.

At the end of the ceremony, you will be awarded with the “Declaration of Bar Messimah™”. It is almost like the “Declaration of Independence”; it summarizes the fact that from now on you have studied and graduated “Bar-Messimah™”, which means that you are responsible enough to handle your maturation process.

The graduation ceremony and the party are the final part of this project. They have to be well planned so everyone will enjoy them and you make the best impression.

It might be a bit easier to plan the party.

Declaration of Bar-Messimah™ of _____ Maturing of a child is like a second birth of the young adult.

He/she becomes more independent in opinions and desires as well as becomes more responsible for actions, rights and duties.

_____ has reached maturation.

Understanding the terms, definitions and direction is vital to self consciousness and are the foundation of one's future actions.

Self discipline is directly linked to the person's determination.

_____ understands and is well in charge.

Thinking about a subject, deciding to embark on a task or a mission, are key elements in responsibly conducting life activities.

_____ has acquired this manner of living.

Executing tasks and fulfilling assignments, documenting activities, drawing conclusions, are all part of the proper sequence of maturely reacting and behaving.

_____ performs well this conduct.

Personal preferences and capability determine the direction and extent of the activities across the ever-enlarging circles: from himself/herself to family, friends, community, state, country and belief.

Emphasis changes with age and era, but the personal rhythm coming from the heart, flowing with the soul, the honest good faith and search for true justice, constantly continue to flavor actions of youngsters.

Reaching "Bar Messimah™", the graduating young-adult's actions and behavior will accrue the credit to provide rights for positive contribution. His/her account will also be charged for negative behavior. Responsibility and discipline are the major qualifications the maturing person has acquired in the process.

_____ has reached his/her goal!

*We hereby are very pleased, honored and thankful to announce that our beloved son/daughter, _____, has completed his / her assignments and is thus ready to become: Bar Messimah™!
